

Ontario Society of Adlerian Psychology

6th Annual Conference

Family Education Forum

Healthy Families - Healthy Boundaries

with Alyson Schafer

Friday, October 14, 2016

Holland Bloorview Kids Rehabilitation Hospital

Toronto, Ontario

Parents today are criticized for making one of two types of parenting errors: either they are too lenient and indulge their children, or they are too strict which invites rebellion or pleasing behaviours. Alyson will discuss the Adlerian model of parenting and how to find that “sweet spot” where we are neither being slave nor tyrant in our relationships with our children. Learn how to identify the proper roles and responsibilities for parent and child across the lifespan. Effective rule setting and enforcement will be discussed. Great information for parents of children 0 - 30 years.
